

PORTO RICO ISLAND SHELLED

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 3 (AP)—An enemy ship shelled Mona Island off Puerto Rico's western-most extremity last night, Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell's office announced today.

It was the first shelling of United States territory on the Atlantic side since the war started. Presumably, submarines shelled the 20-mile-square island, which boasts a National Youth Administration camp. Remberto Cassaba, assistant head of the camp, reported the attack, but said no damage or casualties resulted. The shells landed far up on the rocky cliffs of the island.

LONDON, March 3 (AP)—Netherlands and Allied forces are taking the offensive to drive the Japanese invaders of Java into the sea, Reuters said today in a dispatch from Bandoeng.

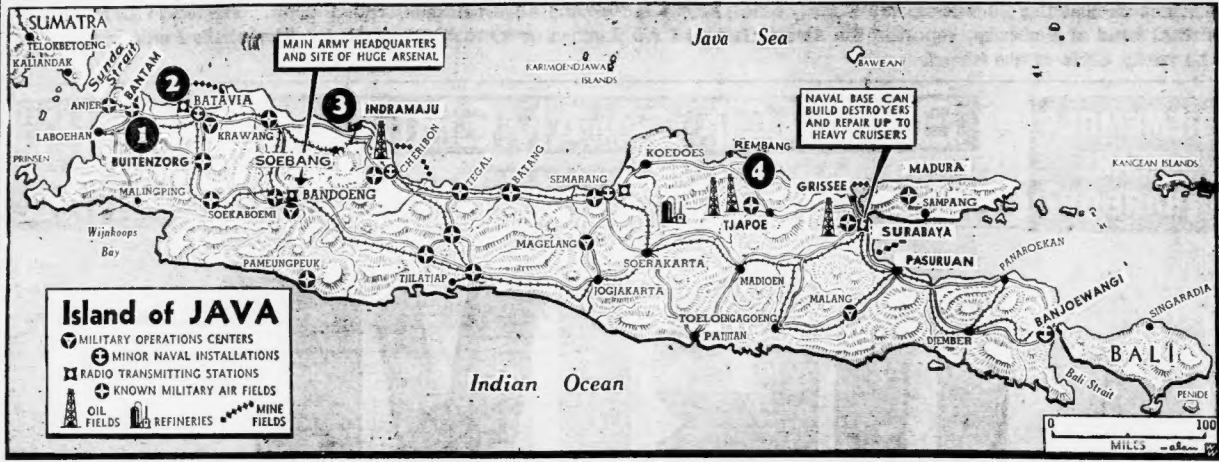

(According to International News dispatches from London, the Evening Standard there published a report from Bandoeng today to the effect that Japanese forces on the island of Java have been pushed back 7 miles in one sector despite the fact the Japanese were using flame-throwers.)

GEN. MacARTHUR SEEN SUCCESSOR TO WAVELL

Washington March 3

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the one outstanding hero of the war in the Far East theater, loomed today as commander of the United Nations' southwest Pacific forces.

It would not surprise many in diplomatic circles if there came a sudden announcement that the hard-bitten American had been "rescued" from Bataan, where his brilliant tactics have thrilled the world, and had been given the larger sphere of action.

MacArthur has never asked to be "rescued," but observers believe that the shifting of Sir Archibald Wavell to Indian command pre-figures MacArthur's being drafted to lead the Allies against the Japanese drive to conquer Java, Australia and New Zealand.

There have been long and repeated demands that such a valuable and indomitable leader as Douglas MacArthur not be abandoned to fate and possible capture in the Philippines.

Even from Australia today, the newspaper Sydney Telegraph proposed that MacArthur be given the southwest Pacific command, where his ideas of combat—thus far, amazingly successful in beating

OFFICIAL NEWS

By VERN HAUGLAND

Japanese warplanes drove home the urgency of Australia's newest war measures today by almost simultaneous raids on the small coastal towns of Wyndham and Broome, respectively 300 and 700 miles southwest of Darwin, only other mainland point which has come under direct attack.

In each case the raiders, possibly based on enemy-occupied Timor some 500 miles to the north, concentrated on airdromes and grounded planes. A Royal Australian Air Force communique acknowledged some damage, but said there were no casualties either at Broome, where bombs were dropped, or at Wyndham, where they attacked only with machine gun and cannon fire.

The government's latest drastic decrees make thousands of Australians liable to a labor draft on army terms and at army pay.

(The all-India radio reported that 18 Japanese planes, accompanied by fighters, carried out another raid on Port Moresby, capital of Papua, New Guinea. The broadcast was heard by CBS in New York.

—FOR VICTORY: BUY BONDS—

An optimistic note was struck by an authorized headquarters spokesman who declared shortly before midnight that "it can be stated without reservation that the situation remains well in hand on all fronts."

In the raid on Bandoeng most of the bombs fell in the vicinity of the airdrome and the Japanese evidently were trying to immobilize one by one the places from which spring the United Nations' air offensive against their invasion.

The raiders came over in fighter-escorted relays of bombers for one and a half hours this morning, holding their formations despite heavy anti-aircraft fire and the fearless attacks of enormously outnumbered United Nations fighter planes.

Although 42 enemy bombers and 18 protecting fighters were overhead at once, officials said military damage was slight. Abandoned homes near the airfield were destroyed and, during bombing lulls, the enemy fighters dived to machine-gun the streets.

Although word had been current that a huge new invasion armada, bearing heavy reinforcements to batter the island's shores, was being battered by relays of American fortress bombers, the Aneta News Agency said up to 7 p. m. (6:30 a. m. E. W. T.) nothing whatever was known to support such reports.

The communique announced a large Japanese tanker had been sunk off the Java coast and that Japanese naval units are shelling several ports on the three islands of the Philippines, the War Department reported today, and are landing troops from a convoy of four transports escorted by a cruiser at Zamboanga on the southwest tip of Mindanao.

There was virtually no ground or air activity over Gen. Douglas MacArthur's positions in Bataan peninsula, the department's communique said, but the Japanese apparently are attempting to extend their occupation of the southern islands of the Philippine group.

Mindanao is the largest island of the Philippine group, and the region of Davao on Mindanao has been the only sizable area occupied by the Japanese in the entire archipelago except for the large northern island of Luzon, on which Manila is located and where MacArthur's main forces are fighting.

U.S. Destroyer Sunk; Death Toll Above 120

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—The Navy Department announced today that the destroyer Jacob Jones was sunk by an enemy submarine off Cape May, N. J., before dawn on February 28 and only 11 men of the destroyer's crew survived.

U. S. DESTROYER JACOB JONES

Lowell Boy on Ship 'Happy to Die for U. S.'

LOWELL, March 3 (AP)—Peter W. Tarsa, 20, joined the Navy three months ago. He was assigned only recently to the destroyer Jacob Jones. When he left home, he told his parents:

"If you ever get a telegram about me being lost or killed, don't cry about it. Just remember that I'm fighting for my country, and that whatever I do—dying or fighting—I'm happy because it's for my country."

Last night the telegram came:

"Missing in action," it read.

Peter's Polish parents are grief-stricken but they're trying hard to do what their boy asked them; make themselves believe that somewhere his soul is happy: Because it's for my country."

BERLIN WARNS PUBLIC OF BIG NEW RED DRIVE

BERN, Switzerland, March 3 (AP)—Soviet troops are massing in prodigious force all along the Russian front for a revitalized drive and have already instituted attacks "on a scale not hitherto reached in the war," German military spokesmen say.

The Berlin correspondent of the Zurich newspaper Die Tat stated that the U. S. S. R. obviously was starting "a fantastic effort to bring about a decision."

Similar accounts developed in Stockholm, although the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said the German spring offensive was prepared and when it opens "the forces will not be spared."

German propagandists naturally have some motive in authorizing circulation of hearsay statements. It may be to brace the Axis peoples for new reverses already in the making. More likely, perhaps, it is to screen some fresh German activity or to take the edge off urgent appeals by Russia to Britain and the United States for opening of a second front by implying she is winning the campaign alone.

Reports originating in Berlin quarters said Nazi aerial scouts had seen great columns of fresh Soviet soldiers moving up; that many 32-ton tanks and long-range guns had been thrown into intense assaults on German positions in the Donets Basin and the Crimea. The Die Tat dispatch said Red army troops attacked in 40 or 50 waves in some sectors, striking unhesitatingly regardless of their casualties. Siberian units were singled out in comment for their "almost unbelievable stubbornness."

German airmen are compelled to concentrate wholly upon attacks against Soviet communications, the dispatch said.

Moscow announcements indicate, however, that a major effort of German squadrons just now is to ferry supplies to the 16th army men encircled in the Staraya Russa sector. The Soviet information bureau declared that "during March 1 we destroyed 77 planes" aloft or aground while losing only eight.

A foreign military expert in Lisbon familiar with Russia, expressed belief the Germans must withdraw to positions west of the big rivers before the spring thaw and bridge-destroying floods begin "for they will run the great risk of being crushed by the Soviets for lack of communications."

The number of those lost, including the commanding officer, Lieut.-Comdr. H. D. Black of Oradell, N. J., was not given, but was far more than 100 since the normal wartime complement of the destroyer was around 145 officers and men.

Two torpedoes hit the Jacob Jones. The first blew up the bow and apparently killed all personnel on the bridge as well as men sleeping in the forward living quarters of the ship. The second torpedo blew up the stern and all the deck chairs.

The 11 survivors consisted of nine enlisted men from the engine room and two apprentice seamen.

Of the 11, only one man was out of the ship's action when the stern was blown up. He was in the after engine room.

In its communique reporting the sinking, the Navy said that neither the enemy submarine nor the torpedo was sighted prior to the first hit.

NINTH NAVAL SHIP

After the first hit blew up the destroyer's bow, the submarine circled ahead of her and fired the torpedo which caused the terrible explosion of the depth charges in the stern.

The Jacob Jones was the ninth navy ship officially announced as

VICTORY TAX PLAN DOUBLES ALL LEVIES TO ADD 7 BILLIONS

By GRIFFING BANCROFT

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 3—Gravely warning that "to defeat the strongest combination of enemies in our history we must spend on a scale unprecedented," Treasury Secretary Morgenthau today laid before Congress an all-time record "tax for victory" program which hits hardest at the middle income earner, and swells federal revenues by $7,619,000,000.

In brief, the plan contemplates:

Doubling lower and middle bracket personal income levies with lesser percentage increases in the already heavily taxed upper incomes, to raise an additional $3,200,000,000.

Authorizing a "collection at the source" system under which 10 per cent could be deducted from wages or other income as a credit toward these taxes.

Morgenthau told the committee that if Congress authorizes the "collection at the source" plan he hopes to put it into operation as of next July 1.

SAVES SOME STILL ESCAPE

Imposing new excise or "hidden" levies on soft drinks, candy and chewing gum and generally increasing most excise taxes, especially on gasoline, beer, distilled spirits and cigarettes, all to net $1,340,000,000.

Sharply increasing excess profits and estate and gift taxes and levying on corporation incomes a special war tax of 31 per cent. This will yield $3,369,000,000 but will diminish federal revenues by $1,500,000,000.

Pugging $880,000,000 worth of "loopholes" by which Morgenthau said, "some taxpayers are escaping their just burden."

"We are at war and an adequate tax program is vital to the successful prosecution of the war," he told the House ways and means committee in submitting his unprecedented proposals. "The new taxes will be severe, and their impact will be felt in every American home. War is never cheap, but it is a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

Stressing his belief that "taxes should be imposed in accordance with ability to pay," Morgenthau strongly opposed any federal sales levy and also any further lowering of present personal income tax exemptions of $750 for single and $1200 for married persons.

It is expected that it will take

BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS

UNION PLEDGES $200,000

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS! The Waltham Watch Workers' Union, No. 72, American Federation of Labor, today patriotically stepped forward with a pledge of $200,000 in BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS.

This substantial contribution boosted the fund to a total of $16,232,181 and assured the United Nations of more BOMBERS, many of which will be identified with the famous name of MASSACHUSETTS.

In telling of the promise, Walter W. Cenerazzo, union president, said:

"As president and business agent of the Waltham Watch Workers' Union, No. 72, of the International Jewelry Workers' Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, I congratulate the Boston Daily Record-Evening American, and Sunday Advertiser, and highly endorse your campaign to BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS."

The union also revealed, with pardonable pride, that "our union is one of the few, if not the only organization, in which EVERY member owns outright at least one $25 BOND."

There's a mark for every organization... fraternal, social, labor or religious... to show that EVERY member owning a BOND should be the goal of all patriotic groups and one that is entirely possible with the complete co-operation of the entire membership.

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS! The surest way to END this war in COMPLETE VICTORY is to get behind this gigantic statewide effort and BUY BONDS.

PLEDGE OVERSUBSCRIBED

Mr. Cenerazzo, in writing of his union's pledge to the BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER campaign, said further:

"At present, our membership, numbering more than two thousand, is actively engaged in the purchase of MORE BONDS and STAMPS."

"In co-operation with the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser campaign to BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS, we pledge $150,000."

"Of this amount, over $53,000 has been subscribed and we are launching another drive with a goal of $147,000, to bring our total purchases of BONDS up to $206,000."

Thus the Watch Workers' Union marks up another record... even though they actually pledge $150,000, they are going far beyond

4 RAIN, GALE LASH HUB; DRIVING SNOW IN NORTH

Rain, whipped by winds that rose as high as 50 miles an hour, lashed the Greater Boston area today, while to the north the storm brought heavy driving snow which hampered road and rail transportation.

In Adams sq., Harry Saxton, 65, of Vinton st., Melrose, was knocked unconscious when struck by a sign blown from the top of a building at the height of the storm.

In Humboldt ave., Roxbury, a large plate glass window in the R & B. Restaurant was blown in by the wind, and in the park in front of Charlestown police station the American flag was being shredded by the gale until soaked policemen hauled it down from the pole.

While many cities and towns cancelled school sessions for the days, many others cancelled out only elementary grades or called off sessions only for the morning.

Boston, however, had school all day in all grades and designations.

"We were very lucky we didn't get snow," said the weatherman in announcing that nearly an inch of rain had fallen at 10 a. m.

For the first time in 40 years a scheduled launching was postponed at the Fore River shipbuilding yards because of weather conditions.

The 10,000-ton tanker Sheldon Clark was due to go down the ways, but because of the 40-to-50-mile winds, there was a danger that the tanker might be caught by a gust and get out of hand in the stream before tugs could snub her.

The tanker was formally christened today, however, but remained on the ways until tomorrow, when she will be given the water without ceremony.

In the Point of Pines section of Revere, surf pounded up over the beach and partially flooded Rice ave. Several back yards were flooded at Roughan's Point, and for 30 feet along Winthrop pkwy. in Revere the roadway was under a foot of water.

At Winthrop, Short Beach rd. connecting Winthrop Shore drive and Revere st., was under several feet of water and surf was curling 25 to 30 feet above the wall. Several cars were bogged down in this stretch of roadway.

Parrot Target, Wife Is Freed

A startling story of her husband's efforts to set her afire was told by Ruth E. Quinn of Main st., Athol, today before Judge Arthur E. Beane in Middlesex Probate Court as she was granted an uncontested divorce from Edward G. Quinn of Cambridge.

"During an argument in 1940, he tossed kerosene all over me and then tried to light it with matches," she testified. "Only the arrival of a neighbor who heard my screams saved me."

Mrs. Quinn also related that her husband slapped her with her pet parrot which he had killed.

"When I was leaving him for the last time, my parrot cried out my name," Mrs. Quinn testified. "My husband grabbed the bird, twisted its neck, and then slapped me across the face with it."

She said she did all the work on their North Reading farm, in September, 1939, Quinn threw a radio at her when she said she was too busy to listen to war bulletins.

They were married Dec. 5, 1930.

Snyder Gets 31-2 Years in Swindle

Nathaniel Snyder, 37, of Blue Hill ave., Dorchester, sports promoter, was sentenced to 3½ years in a federal penitentiary today in connection with the "promotion" of an address by Bonke Carter, columnist.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward Hassan said there never was any such address, that Carter knew nothing of the enterprise, but Snyder persuaded Harry I. Dye, a teller for the State St. Trust Co., to contribute the bank's funds for "publicity" of the event.

Dye has since pleaded guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy and aiding and abetting the misapplication of funds—charges on which Snyder was sentenced today. Total amount involved, according to Hassan, was $10,800. Dye is awaiting sentence.

Arraigned before Judge George C. Sweeney in federal court, Snyder was described by Hassan as "the cheapest confidence man I have ever seen."

Hassan said after ingratiating himself with the bank teller and persuading him to put up the money, Snyder then told Dye the speaker had fallen sick and wanted to break the contract.

SKIN SUFFERERS

Free book by twelve authors telling how simple use of a product from the earth quickly relieved them from the misery of Psoriasis, Eczema, Athlete's Foot, Acne, Venereal Ulcers, Itch, Poison Oak. Address P. O. Box 5170, Chicago, Ill.

Ruled out entirely were two-piece suits, vests for double-breasted suits, full dress coats, the cut-away coat and double-breasted uxedo coat.

Overcoats, too, came under the order, which is expected to save 40 to 50 million pounds of wool for the armed forces. They will be shorter and less full, and will have no belts, cuffs on sleeves, outside patch pockets or fancy backs.

COATS SHORTER

To the casual observer, the only noticeable change in men's suits will be the absence of trouser cuffs, WPB said. The board feared an abrupt style change would start a buying rush for "victory suits," which would defeat the conservation aims of the order.

Suit coat lengths will be three-fourths of an inch shorter than the average now worn, and topcoats and overcoats will be two to four inches shorter.

Merchant tailors and "tailors-to-the-trade" will not become subject to the order until May 30, because most of them have substantial stocks of cut goods on hand.

Other regulations:

NO FANCY BACKS

Men's coat length limited to 29½ inches for size 37 and other sizes in proportion; boys' coats 24½ inches for size 14.

No fancy back coats.

Inseam measurement of trousers (leg measurement) restricted to 35 inches for a size 32-inch waist, keeping normal length but eliminating cuffs.

No pleated, tucked or continuous (overlapping) waistbands. Single-breasted overcoats may be 43½ inches long and 56 inches wide at the bottom for a size 37 regular with other sizes varying proportionately. Boys' overcoats may be 37½ inches long and 48 inches wide for a size 14. Double-breasted men's overcoats may be one inch longer and six inches wider, while boys' double-breasted overcoats are the same length as single-breasted but five inches wider.

Little Celina Elizabeth Barrett didn't know she had offered to her today a home on an 80-acre farm at Exeter, N.H., complete with chickens, cows and gardens.

Celina, 4, blonde and blue-eyed, is the center of a court battle for her custody between her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett of Boston, Somerville, and Mrs. Emily Price, 40, of Center ave., Belmont, who has had Betty since she was 3 weeks old.

Today in Middlesex probate court Mrs. Barrett's sister, Mrs. Irene M. Price of Exeter, offered to take little Bety into her home at the farm.

Her husband, said Mrs. Price, earns $50 a week and they are "willing to help in every way to support Betty and to give her a good education."

The girl's aunt said she has no children of her own but has been "acting as a mother for a 10-year-old boy there."

"You didn't want your niece when she was a baby, did you?" Mrs. Price was asked by counsel for Mrs. Price.

"I certainly did," the aunt replied, "but I wasn't in condition to take care of her. I wasn't even able to take care of myself at the time."

Testimony in the case ended, with arguments to follow before Judge Arthur E. Beane.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—A war spirit gripped Florida today following the carrying into effect of Gov. Holland's order for a semi-blackout each night for a distance of two miles back from the ocean. All lights facing the Atlantic ocean were completely blacked out as Florida prepared for possible enemy plane raids.

Army and Navy authorities were consulted by Gov. Holland before he issued the order.

Thousands of tourists from the North prepared to return home as Florida placed itself on a war basis.

During the past week Florida coastwise shipping has been under fire of German U-boats.

Hotel men were in a panic over the uneasiness the semi-blackout caused their guests, and said frankly that it would bring a quick end to the winter tourist business. The talk of gasoline restrictions also caused thousands of tourists from the North to start for home.

For the time being Naval and Army planes on 24-hour duty will be Florida's first line of defense against enemy attack.

Brazil, U. S. Sign 3 War Pacts

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Brazil and the United States today signed three important agreements designed to increase Brazilian production of strategic war materials and give the two South American republics greater defense against potential Axis attacks.

The agreements provide for:
1.—Formation of an Amazon basin development company that will increase production of products, principally rubber, in the vast region.

2.—Additional lend-lease aid to Brazil to strengthen its Navy and Army.

3.—Earmarking $141,000,000 for completion of the Victoria-Minas railroad which taps one of the richest iron ore deposits in the world.

Driver Escapes Flaming Truck

Plunging out of control on the Concord Turnpike a 20-ton oil truck ripped through 60 feet of fence, rolled down an embankment and burst into flames today near the Almont Country Club.

The driver, Richard Grant, 26, of Fitchburg, was trapped in the cab when the crash jammed both doors. Flames were spurting through the floor boards by the time he managed to kick out a window and escape.

Land 13 More Sub Survivors

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, March 3 (AP)—Thirteen survivors who landed here today reported 20 lives were lost when a freighter was torpedoed in the western Atlantic in January. Seven other survivors of the same ship were put ashore for hospital treatment at St. John's, N. F.

All 20 were rescued by a British ship after they had drifted in lifeboats for eight hours.

Among those lost was a British refugee family of four, drowned by a torpedo explosion which wrecked their lifeboat.

The survivors said two torpedoes were fired at the freighter.

Inez Robb Finds

Eire Will Fight Even U. S. to Hold Bases

By INEZ ROBB

International News Service Staff Writer

The lot of small European nations has not been a happy one in recent years. Only three such nations, Eire, Portugal and Switzerland, all with a history of fierce independence, have been able so far to escape the engulfing, tidal wave of total war. None of the three can regard the future with equanimity.

Eire, the smallest and most sparsely populated of the trio, clings today with stubborn determination to her neutrality and the naval bases on which she feels that neutrality is to be predicated. But the devil and the deep blue sea are her constant companions. The devil—war—is still on the mainland of Europe. And in the deep blue sea of her Atlantic coast line are embedded the naval bases which Britain and America consider vital to their war efforts against Germany.

These are the bases that the United States and Great Britain want, and that Eire, feeling the price of their surrender to be war, is determined not to yield.

WOULD FIGHT U. S.

"If any nation, even the United States, tries to take over our bases, we will fight to the last man," an official spokesman of Eire declared with fierce finality as we sat in his plain government office at the end of a long, quiet Dublin afternoon.

"There is no way to get the bases except for Eire to come into the war, and Eire wants none of this war! The moment we hand over the bases to any belligerent, we cease to be neutral and are automatically plunged into war."

"Our foreign policy is predicated on strict neutrality, which we are determined to maintain. Otherwise, we are apt to find ourselves the unwilling cockpit of this war."

"No matter who attacks us, we are determined to defend ourselves. The seizure of our bases by any power can only be construed as an attack by that power. We have 250,000 men under arms now, ready to repel invasion no matter where it starts."

"We are concerned with the threat of invasion by Britain and by the United States no less than by threat of invasion from Germany."

"No matter who attacks us, we'll defend ourselves."

"I think we must face the possibility of German invasion only if she is beaten and on the ropes. Then she might make a desperate try at the invasion of England under cover of a preliminary diversion by an invasion of Eire."

HANDICAP FOR GERMANY

"She can attempt invasion in two ways—by sea and by air. If Germany attempts an air-borne invasion, she must do so with slow, troop-carrying planes. She would need at least 1500 such planes to land 30,000 men and their necessary equipment."

"Germany will not find Eire to be a second Poland," he said with sudden harshness. "We have a quarter of a million men under arms and we will know how to fight if the time comes."

"As for a sea-borne invasion, our coastal defenses are wholly inadequate for such an emergency."

"But the threat of invasion by sea doesn't really worry us. We realize that an invasion of Eire by Germany is as much to England's disadvantage as to ours. In her own interest, Britain must stop any invasion of Eire. As long as there is a British fleet, we are certain of protection against a sea-borne invasion."

BENT ON NEUTRALITY

"You must understand that Eire is determined to remain a benevolent neutral. We are convinced the agitation for naval bases is an entirely artificial agitation since it has no basis in necessity. In reality, the Irish

THIS IS THE SECOND of a series of uncensored articles about Eire by Inez Robb, star feature writer for International News Service and the Boston Evening American, who recently returned to America after a survey of wartime conditions in both England and Ireland. Mrs. Robb, who is herself of Irish descent, embarked on what was to have been a "sentimental journey to Eire, only to find herself confronted with the grim realities of war and its impact on the lives and thoughts of Eire's people."

bases are not bases at all. They are merely anchorages. The British want this extra security, but even they do not believe that it is a necessity," the spokesman insisted.

"Would Eire consider selling the bases?" I asked.

"No," he thundered. "A nation does not sell part of its sovereign territory. There is no way to get the bases except for Ireland to come into the war, and that is the one thing we are determined never to do unless it is forced upon us."

Junior Army Fitness Aided by Exercise

Below is the seventh lesson in the Physical Fitness course especially prepared for the Junior Victory Army by Joe McKenney, associate director of physical education in the Boston public schools.

By JOE MCKENNEY
LESSON SEVEN

Daily exercise not only gives one greater physical, mental and social efficiency, but it is necessary for the normal growth and development of the human body.

Fifteen minutes a day devoted to the postural exercises previously recommended plus the following exercises will help make every member of the Junior Victory Army physically fit.

1—To strengthen the muscles of the lower back and waist:

In one count—place hands on your hips. Jump sideways. Now bend your trunk to the left—Repeat this exercise four times. Then do the same exercise bending your trunk to the left.

2—To ventilate the lungs:

Bend your arms upward. Looking up and taking a deep breath stretch arms to a Y position. Exhale and bring arms back to their initial position. Repeat this exercise several times.

EXERCISES FOR BACK

3—Back exercise:

Raise your heels. Pointing your fingers to the floor between your feet do a deep knee bend, putting your arms between the knees, which are now apart, and try to touch the floor. Now stretch to your full length, flinging your arms forward and sideways. Let your heels sink and drop—rms to the side. Repeat exercise in rhythm.

4—Lying on the floor with your arms extended over your head, swing your arms and body forward and upward, touching the tips of the fingers to the toes. Return to lying position and repeat four to six times slowly.

5—Standing—with hands extended over your head, bend forward, touching your toes, keeping the knees and legs straight.

(Additional exercises will be presented in tomorrow's lesson. Watch for it in the Evening American.)

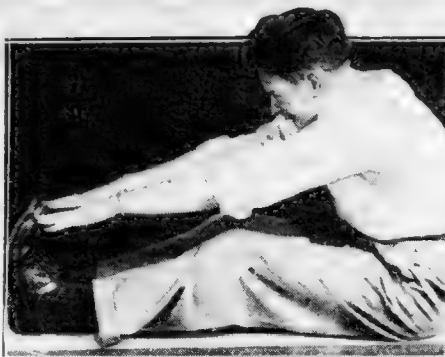

JUNIOR ARMY NOTES

William Davis, 108 Vernon st., Somerville, Junior Army member, is organizing a group of his chums to meet regularly at Lowell and Vernon sts., Somerville. He has named his group the "Slap a Jap Division."

Believed to be the first group to form a Junior Victory Army club in Middleboro, eight 4-H girls have enrolled as the 4-H Sewing Patriots. Their leader is Mrs. Essie Gola, Taunton st., Middleboro, who plans to teach them first aid. The members are: Anna Gola, Josephine Scanlon, Carolyn Baker, Rosemary Richmond, Mary Lewoczko, Yvonne Wood, and Verna Harris, all of Middleboro, and Eleanor Washburn of New Bedford.

Three of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Leahy, Claremont, N. H., have enrolled. The oldest boy is a scout and collects paper for defense. Another son and a daughter are buying defense stamps with money they earn.

State Spurs Air Raid Aid Plans

Air raids over Massachusetts were forecast today by John H. Sherburne, head of the state public safety committee's evacuation division, as he discussed plans for removal of civilians from potential target areas.

"Even if the raids are not prolonged or continuous, damage will be greatly increased if we are not fully prepared to meet the situation," Sherburne said.

Red Cross and committee officials began a survey of temporary shelters.

Sherburne said shelter space in rural sections or sparsely populated districts would be inspected and listed by Red Cross chapters by March 14.

Shelters will be planned on the basis of 50 square feet a person for single cots. Heating, sleeping, cooking and sanitary facilities also will be considered.

All cities and towns have appointed evacuation officers, Sherburne said.

lost so far in the war, including the Reuben James, which was torpedoed last fall prior to formal U. S. declaration of war.

The others of the previous eight were three combatant ships, a mine-layer and a target ship lost at Pearl Harbor; the tanker Natchez, torpedoed in unidentified waters, and the Coast Guard cutter Alexander Hamilton, torpedoed off Iceland.

Loss of the Alexander Hamilton with moderate casualties was announced Feb. 23. The following day loss of the destroyer Truxton and the store ship Pollux in a storm off Newfoundland with a total loss of 183 officers and men was reported by the Navy.

The Truxton, the Reuben James and now the Jacob Jones were all of the old World War four-stacker type of destroyer.

ON ARMISTICE DAY

The Jacob Jones was launched Nov. 11, 1918, a 1200-ton vessel armed with four-inch guns and capable of a speed of 35 knots. She was equipped also with 12 torpedo tubes.

The vessel was the second of that name to be lost in action with the enemy. The first was the Jacob Jones of World War days which went down with 64 men Dec. 6, 1917, while en route from Brest to Queenstown, Ireland. Both ships were named for a hero of the war of 1812 and the war with the Barbary pirates.

Lieut. Comdr. Black took command of the Jacob Jones April 11, 1941. He was 39 years old. A native of New Jersey, he entered the Naval Academy from that state in 1922 and was graduated in 1926.

Lost Commander's Wife, Children in Winchester

It was only last week that Lieut. Comdr. Black, reported lost in the sinking of the U. S. S. Jacob Jones, visited his wife and three children at their Lloyd St. Winchester, home, friends said today.

Mrs. Black was said to be in a state of collapse today following receipt of news of her husband's death. All visitors were barred from the little cottage.

His three youngsters, Barbara, 9; John Dennis, 3, and David, Jr., 1, were with their mother when she was informed by the Navy of the Jones disaster.

Friends said the young officer was "a very fine man and his crew thought very highly of him." They said many of the crewmen visited him during his last stay in Winchester.

Black also visited his father, Howard D. Black, at the latter's Oradell, N. J., home, last week.

Informing that his son was probably lost when a torpedo blew up the bow and killed all on the bridge, the father commented sadly:

"Well, that's where my boy would be, wouldn't it?"

Controlling his voice with great effort the grief-stricken father continued:

"If a torpedo demolished the bridge and that was the place where the commander would be, then I'm sure my boy was there. My boy was a fine sailor."

The lost officer also stopped off on his leave to renew acquaintances at Harvard where he was assistant professor of naval science and tactics from 1938 to 1940.

His Harvard associates recalled Lieut. Comdr. Black as "a very fine man and a credit to his country and family."

LIEUT. COMDR. H. D. BLACK

Half and Half Blackout Plan Dazes Capital

By JACK VINCENT

International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 3—Amid growing confusion, authorities went ahead with plans for a "black and white" blackout tonight that will see Washington lit up like a Christmas tree.

Despite protests, the Office of Civilian Defense insisted it would be a black and white blackout; black for citizens, white for the government.

Street lights will be kept blazing, and nearly every one of the 400 government buildings will have lights burning in their 130,000 windows.

But for the average citizen or business man it will be a blackout, and District, Maryland and Virginia authorities warned that willful violators might be fined $300 or put in jail for 90 days if they don't blackout windows and doors from dusk to dawn.

Some 20,000 air raid wardens will be on duty.

Automobile travel will not be restricted, and motorists will not be forced to dim lights. Traffic lights will be on.

Wavell Stiffens Rangoon Lines

LONDON, March 3 (AP)—The British and Indian defenders of Burma, now under personal command of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, were reported today holding fast along the line of the Sittoung river and bracing themselves for a full scale assault which the Japanese were believed preparing to launch from bases already won.

The All-India radio, meanwhile, broadcast a communique from Burma British army headquarters reporting that a growing number of Indians were returning to Rangoon and even were opening up small shops in the city, which had been all but evacuated in the face of the Jap threat from the east.

off a 10 to 1 Japanese superiority on Bataan—probably would change the face of the war.

This would be in the furthering of the growing demand for an offensive rather than a defensive war in the Pacific. MacArthur's success has been based on his hard-hitting application that the best defense is an offense.

YANKS AT SCENE

It is no longer a military secret that heavy American troop movements have been placing more and more Yankees in the southwest theater, nor is it any secret that the hope of turning the Japanese back lies in that theater, and with the Americans.

Thus an American commander in that area, directing American officers and American troops, along with the Australians, the New Zealanders and the Dutch, would be viewed as only natural.

Removal of Wavell as commander-in-chief in the India and his return to his former post as commander in India, was not considered an indication of any sudden darkening of the situation in Java.

On the contrary, the belief was that Wavell had transferred his headquarters to Burma before the Japanese opened their all-out assault on Java.

The joint Army-Navy statement made plain that the move meant no change in plans for "general coordination of strategic policy," but had been taken for tactical considerations.

There was a hint that the Wavell transfer might have political as well as military significance, for well-informed sources in London believed it could foreshadow a British offer of dominion status to India.

Army to Start Moving Aliens

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3 (AP)

—A wide border of the entire Pacific coast extending 95 to 250 miles inland and reaching along the Arizona-Mexican border was designated by the Army today as military area No. 1, from which enemy aliens and American-Japanese may be excluded or their movements restricted.

Lieut. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, commanding general of the Western Defense Command, under whose jurisdiction aliens now come, said his first evacuation order would deal with Japanese aliens and American citizens of Japanese descent now in certain vital military areas. German and Italian aliens will be evacuated later.

JAP PLANES BLAST JAVA AIRDROMES

Allied bombers had scored direct hits on two enemy transports of 10,000 and 8,000 tons, but made no reference to any new approach of an enemy fleet.

The new blows boosted the enemy's toll off Java to 30 warships and transports sunk or damaged.

(Ashore, a Kruter's report in London from Bandung said the Dutch had put their defense plans into full force and that the fighting was on a major scale.)

TOLL OF JAP SHIPS' SIGHTS

The war bulletin said 10 Japanese navy "O" fighters were raked with machine-gun fire as they were about to take off from an enemy held airfield "and put out of action, including their crews."

(An official of the Netherlands government-in-exile in London said the Indies government had shifted from Batavia to Bandung, seat of the military headquarters.)

(Although Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell has departed, he said, British troops still are in the fight under the command of Maj. Gen. H. G. Stilwell, who, in turn, takes orders from the Dutch.)

(This spokesman, Dr. W. G. Peckema of the colonial ministry, predicted that Java would be lost unless reinforcements, especially air reinforcements, arrive in time.)

Love and Marriage Unhappy Wife's Dilemma: Common Sense or Romance?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I ELOPED at 16 years of age, but my marriage was unhappy and lasted but five years. Before I was 21 I had a divorce and a nervous breakdown. On my doctor's orders I went West to get my health back. I soon had a new job, met new friends and went out with some nice young men. When my mother and sisters came I had to try to support them all. Mother was ill and my sisters were too young to work.

I was unhappy until I met a man, eight years my senior, whom I married. Although I didn't love him then I had visions of a good husband who would take care of me and help me to support my family. He has proved to be a true, faithful and hard-working husband. We've been married five years, during which time I've learned to care for him.

My mother has been able to establish her home with her children, and my husband and I have a nice home and car. This all looks peaceful but during the last two months I've been nearly out of my mind, as I've fallen in love with a man working in the same office with me. We both know it and have talked it over. He wants me to divorce my husband and marry him, but I told him I couldn't leave my husband because I wouldn't hurt him for the world.

This man finally left the city, and something inside me went with him. Now that I want children, my husband won't hear of it; he says I'm all he wants. He is proud of his possessions and wants to keep up with the Joneses. Since I've met the other man I wonder if it is love I feel for my husband or just a comfortable feeling of relationship between two people.

—UNHAPPY WIFE.

The trouble with your married life is that you're a woman of maternal instinct and have no children. Why not be absolutely frank with your husband? Tell him why your marriage is unsatisfactory.

Divorcing the man to whom you're married would hurt him more deeply than any other calamity.

Let me remind you that if a woman has a baby, she has thereafter scant time for considering love affairs.

Lauds Mass. Lodge's Bond Purchases

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

SEATTLE, WASH., Monday—This has been an anxious day. No one, no matter how well disciplined, can sit and wait while someone one loves is undergoing an operation, and not suffer pangs of anxiety for all the things which may happen, but which thank God, so rarely do.

While I am out here to see my daughter, Anna, who is having an appendectomy, I have been thinking about things which I have neglected to tell you. One of them is a little ceremony which occurred at our house in New York City last Thursday afternoon. I received then the first collection of red, white and blue flower seeds, and hope to put them in the garden at the big house at Hyde Park and at my cottage. This presentation launched the British-American Ambulance Corps drive to raise, by the sale of these one-dollar packages, the money to buy ambulances for use abroad. Little Joan Manning, who belongs to Troop 213 of the Girl Scouts, presented me with a very patriotic red, white and blue, old-fashioned bouquet, showing what delightful flowers we can grow next summer.

There are not only flower seeds on sale, but vegetable seeds as well. These packages contain 13 different varieties of vegetable seeds. Unfortunately, we cannot have patriotic colors in vegetables, but it is just as patriotic to grow them, because they will help to feed us the kind of food which we all need.

There is a method of increasing the sale of Defense Stamps and Bonds, which has been developed by Northwestern University. I find it is being followed in one way or another by various institutions and groups. The plan which Northwestern has started, offers its alumni the possibility of helping both the government and the university at the same time. Investment of the gifts they give, in Defense Bonds, will be a start in the fund to finance the university's development through their century plan.

THE GRAND LODGE of the Massachusetts Order of the Sons of Italy in America, have sent me their magazine. I think they should be congratulated on their purchase of $50,000 worth of Defense Bonds. Their final goal is much greater than this, and shows a determination on their part to have civilians at home, by their sacrifices, support the Italian-American boys, who are fighting in our services everywhere in the world.

In this magazine, I enjoyed particularly the photographs of some of the Massachusetts boys with the little descriptions which they had sent in of their activities. I hope that many other groups are keeping this same type of record for the future.

Editor's note: The Sons of Italy, Massachusetts Grand Lodge, has since pledged to purchase $200,000 in Bonds for Massachusetts Bombers in this record-breaking Bonds for Bombers campaign.

PATRIOTISM, which has caused many changes in everyone's life, has changed Susan Strong from an actress to a director.

In order to raise money for the USO, Sue is directing a group of neighborhood youngsters in a series of three short plays, entitled "Flag of the Free," which is to be presented in Dover Town Hall, March 13.

Joining forces with Sue in her first experience as theatrical coach is Mrs. "Pinky" Liggett Scrivener, whose two children, Lorraine and Arthur Scrivener, Jr., will be members of the appealing cast.

Daughter of the Alexander Strongs of Dover, Sue was one of last winter's most attractive debutantes and was very much in demand as an actress in both Junior League and Vincent Club theatricals.

Additional members of the youthful cast in "Flag of the Free" are Marjorie Allen, daughter of former Gov. and Mrs. Frank G. Allen; Elsie Dabney, Pomona, Richmond; John McElwain, Theodore Worcester; Charles and Walter Cabot; Richard Murray and Dennis McSweeney.

The Masked Jury CHEATING HUSBAND

—WILL HE SETTLE DOWN?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: About ten years ago I married a divorced man with a family. At the time of our marriage I knew he was a cheater, but I thought that after our marriage he would change.

But this he has failed to do. For the last five years he has been going out constantly with two younger women.

Do you think I should continue living with a man who is unfaithful to me? While I know that he does not love me, I still know he respects me. He always treats me well while in other people's presence. I have been working for the last 10 years and know I can maintain my position as long as I so desire, but sometimes I get so dissatisfied I feel I would like to give it up and stay at home.

Do you think a man who has acted so all those years could settle down and be happy with me?

—DISILLUSIONED.

HOW THE JURY VOTED
Women: Yes, one; No, five Men: Yes, two; No, four

STENOGRAPHER: Yes. She knew what to expect when she married him and now it is up to her to make the most of it.

HOUSEWIFE: No, I don't say they can be happy, but I think it is up to her to try and save the marriage.

BANK TELLER: No, I don't think he is going to settle down, but if she has his respect, as she says, then I think she should go on with him.

RAILROAD CONDUCTOR: No. After 10 years she ought to know how things stand.

HOUSEWIFE: No, and it's partly her fault. She's foolish to go on working. If she isn't getting faithfulness, the least she should get is her support.

MAXICURIST: No. Women are silly when they marry a man who cheats and thinks he will stop his usual ways for them. But she should make him keep her.

HAIRDRESSER: No. I don't think people should live together unless there's love and faithfulness. Respect isn't enough.

MACHINIST: Yes. It's possible. Of course it all depends on whether the wife wants to try hard enough to keep a marriage together.

WAITRESS: No. But she ought to give up her job and stay home.

TYPIST: No. Since she has known about it all these years why didn't she do something about it before?

TEXTILE WORKER: Yes. She could talk to him about it anyway and maybe give him another chance.

SALESMAN: No. I don't think he's going to settle down but that doesn't say he won't be happy with her.

Dear Mr. Hearst:

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

The "Buy a Bomber" campaign now being conducted by your newspapers parallels the plan whereby the people of certain cities have provided funds for military equipment by the purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps.

The regular purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps by every American is a program which gives each of us continual opportunities to strike added blows for freedom. Your newspapers are making a real contribution to this program.

—Sincerely, HENRY MORGENTHAU, Jr.

SECRETARY MORGENTHAU

Here's how to stipulate that your bonds are purchased in connection with the BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS campaign. You will find on the left-hand side of the green application blank, opposite where you write the name with which the bond is to be inscribed, the three words:

"Buy for Defense." Immediately above this is a small space in which you can write, "Massachusetts Bomber Campaign." Write only in the space described. BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS. In this way your bonds will buy bombers in honor of Massachusetts. More than $16,000,000 already has been pledged. Story on Page 3.

OUR DAILY CITATION: Posthumously, to Mrs. Delphine Jennings who lost her life Sunday in a courageous and successful attempt to save her three children and husband when fire swept their Naples road, Salem, apartment. Mrs. Jennings was a devoted wife and mother. She died as she had lived, serving her family.

A SURVEY of Latin-American trade by Mr. R. C. Hurlbut of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce disclosed the emphasis the war has put upon the need for rail and highway communications between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone.

Enemy operations in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans have already driven Central American commerce to the land routes as much as this is possible.

But the unfortunate fact is that the available land routes are not only inadequate as far as they go, but do not exist at all in important segments of the vital region.

As Mr. Hurlbut points out, traffic now moves across Mexico by rail. At the Guatemalan border it must be trucked across a bridge, transferred to rails again and thence moved to a Salvadorean port where lighters or coastwise vessels must be utilized to reach Honduras.

Not before 1945, says Mr. Hurlbut, is there any prospect that American goods may be delivered by rail in every country between the United States and Panama.

"The quicker we get an all-rail connection to the Panama Canal," he added, "the better off we will all be in every meaning of the word. The Republic of Mexico alone can produce the steel for this purpose without taking anything from the present war effort."

We have marvelled at the supposed backwardness of the Chinese in relying upon the vulnerable Burma Road as a military and economic life line.

But the Chinese at least BUILT the Burma Road.

We enlightened Americans have neither highway nor rail line to OUR most vital line of life, which the Panama Canal most certainly represents.

The American Government would be in a far more favorable position to conduct the present war if these advantageous and useful highway and rail installations were available now.

But since they are not available now, they should be completed as soon as possible—not simply to implement the war effort, which is important; but to make the ultimate peace prosperous and profitable for all the American nations.

We have the golden opportunity here to conduct a vital war operation, and, at the same time, to put a firm economic foundation under the ensuing peace.

CHAIRMAN DIES of the Committee Investigating Un-American Activities has registered another triumph in a long series of triumphs in the order of Secretary of the Navy Knox barring George Deatherage from working as an engineer for contractors at the naval operating base at Norfolk, Va.

It was the Dies Committee which drew from Deatherage the admission that he was commander of the Knights of the White Camellias, a Fascist organization.

It was the Dies Committee that further drew from Deatherage the admission that he had contacts with the German Embassy, that the Knights of the White Camellias was anti-Semitic and that his organization collaborated with a propaganda organization in Germany.

When it became known that this man was working on vital naval plans, the Roosevelt Administration took quick action to see that he was "fired" as an "undesirable," a right properly reserved to the Government in all contracts awarded to private firms engaged in war production.

The Administration is to be commended for its prompt action. But it will also be asked by millions of thoughtful Americans with ordinary memories why this same zeal and promptitude for our national welfare are not evidenced in regard to more than THREE THOUSAND persons employed in the government service—some in key positions—who, like Deatherage, have been associated with organizations as suspiciously anti-American in principle as the Knights of the White Camellias.

THOMAS YALDEN said: "The lips he must briskly invade that would possess the heart." Mr. Yalden differed with those who claim it inadvisable to try to kiss a girl the first time you take her out. John Ray, another expert on osculation, said: "A lipping lass is good to kiss." Edward Rostand observed: "A kiss is a secret told to the mouth instead of the ear." And for the benefit of those who have recently requested Dr. Henry Gibbons' definition of a kiss here it is: "A kiss is the anatomical juxtaposition of two orbicularis muscles in a state of contraction."

EXPERT ON MATRIMONY advises against "war marriages," saying most of the brides in such unions are too young and "don't know their own minds," and that the engagement periods are nearly always too short. Who am I to contradict an expert on marriage? Yet I have never found any evidence that women who married very young were not on the average as happily married as those who married in their middle or late twenties. Nor have I ever seen it proven that short engagement marriages were any less successful than long engagement marriages.

That is a fellow who can tell the sex of a one-day-old chicken which is knowledge very necessary to the chicken industry. In all England there are only 15

"chick sexers" and they are all Japanese.

ADDED DETAILS: Brooklynites are said to be the most easily trained husbands material. Los Angeles husbands are most difficult to keep in line, with Denver husbands second in that respect. . . . "Never forget what a man says to you when he is angry," said Henry Ward Beecher. Evidently Mr. Beecher believed with many others that when angry a person really speaks his or her mind. . . . "Why don't you quote something from the Bible now and then?" asks a Seattle subscriber. Be glad to, ma'am. I will quote today Proverbs 24-10: "If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small."

JEALOUSY: "The first battle we have to win," says Senator Byrd, "is the Battle of Washington, D. C. The government must end fantastic and increasing confusion, drop official and departmental jealousies and devote all our energies to winning the war." Nobody can deny the Senator has something there. His reference to "official and departmental jealousies" brings out the fact that while jealousy and envy are supposed to be predominantly feminine traits, no women are ever so jealous and envious as the male heads of different departments in the same organization.

Broadway's Voice

JANE PICKENS VISITS STORK CLUB
By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 3—Manhattan Glitter: Deanna Durbin radiating charm at the fans outside the Waldorf . . . Phyllis Brooks in an evening veil like a maharane . . . Jane Pickens paying her very first visit to the Stork Club—asking, "Which one is Billingsley?" . . . Greta Garbo, in a beaver coat and—flash!—a pretty hat, striding down Park ave. with long-legged Gaylord Hauser . . . Kate Hepburn foiling a photo outside Fefe's. Well, he got a good shot of her mink . . . Edward Arnold striding into the Music Hall as if he owned it . . . Vincent Price and his beard haunting Sardi's . . . Cole Porter playing host to Merle Oberon at the 1-2-3 . . . Big Herbert Bayard Swope and little Irving Berlin chanting the same tune—Navy Relief.

This Was The Week in which the all-time high was the number of cafe appearances made by Gene Tierney, and the all-time "low" was Mrs. Duncan McMartin's décolletage the evening she was accompanied by Jean Gabin . . . Jimmy Durante sneezed at La Martinique and Georgie Price kiddingly handed him a tablecloth with which to blow his trademark . . . Those Scotch soldiers in Manhattan didn't order Scotch in the Main Stem bars—they went for beer . . . Lenore Lemmon offered to remove the toupee of a man-about-town if he didn't stop heckling her from the Beachcomber's ringside . . . Brian Aherne had to watch Joe E. Lewis from the steps of the Copacabana because there were no tables left . . . Morton Downey danced with Mrs. Pat De Cicco to "Whee, Irish Eyes Are Smiling"—played in samba rhythm!

The Midnight Scene: Not a nightclub overlooked the President's speech a week ago, and Mr. Roosevelt's voice swept impressively into rooms where on normal evenings rumba bands and comedians and tap dancers make the most important noises. It was a sober half-hour in the cabarets, but it was a good half-hour. It proved that in the heart of the nation's most frivolous district there was no place so light-hearted that it would not halt the music and the laughter to listen to the fainter sound of history's pages being turned.

Fables from the Fifties: All the midnighters are busy twisting oldies into topical ratiotings. Gags. At the 13 Club, Roy Sedley is insisting that a tramp approached him and asked for $60 for a cup of coffee "360?" echoed Roy in the conventional echo. "Why, coffee is only a nickel." "I know," pleaded the tramp, "but I like mine with sugar!"

And, of course, all the bantering young men are inviting their dream girls to "come up to my apartment—and see my tires!"

A Stone's Throw from Broadway: Walter Pidgeon is leaving a trail of swooning females wherever his ramblings take him. Dead pigeons, you might say . . . Most gigantic jewelry display of the week was toted by Hazel Forbes Richman—a star sapphire the size of an egg nestled in a necklace solid with diamonds, and bracelets to match . . . Quite a zoological note when Billy de Wolfe chatted with Gil Lamb and Kitty Carlisle at the Stork . . . First sign of spring: Those open-topped buses on Fifth ave., the hand-holders already in their seats looking for the first robin . . . Winston Guest is El Morocco in his naval lieutenant's uniform.

The Owl Patrol. The corny, but catchy, ballad, "Deep in the Heart of Texas" seems to have swept the gilded set as thoroughly as it has enchanted the juke box audiences—with one delightful exception. That is Mr. Brian Aherne, the motion picture star.

Mr. Aherne was standing against the bar at Monte Carlo a few evenings ago when two things were happening simultaneously: (1) Ginger Rogers was dancing with Jimmy Stewart; (2) The band was playing "Deep in the Heart of Texas." At the prescribed "break" in the ballad—clap, clap—just before the words "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Mr. Aherne took the applause as a compliment to Miss Rogers. "Is that song," he asked, "from Ginger's new picture?"

All Around Town: A theater usher at "Angel Street" had the rather unusual task of asking the First Lady to "move down one please." Someone produced a ticket for the seat Mrs. Roosevelt occupied . . . Since he has become a papa, Georgie Jessel is a collector of infant weights. Sends waiters over to friends in cafes to ask: "How much does yours weigh now?"

DEANNA DURBIN

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

DICK POWELL CARRIES in his wallet a recent snapshot of the three other Powells—Joan Blondell Powell, Norman, age 7, and Ellen, who is 3, going on 4 . . . The snap was made at Sun Valley while Joan and the children were enjoying the children's first snow and Dick was playing personal appearances in the East . . . All three subjects of the photo have the widest grins imaginable . . . The grins are so wide that the eyes of the kids are just slits between crinkly little faces . . . But enough of their faces is visible to assure anyone looking at the photo that here are two potential greats of the Hollywood of 1955 . . . Papa Powell is a proud father, all right, but he doesn't overdo it . . . He brings forth the picture of the youngsters and then immediately switches the subject as soon as he can.

CUSTOMERS AT THE RKO-BOSTON—who are all but breaking down the doors in an attempt to get seats for the viewing of Mr. Powell, in person, and "Ride 'Em, Cowboy," with Abbott and Costello in their shadow-selves—may be very sure that Dick really plays those three horns (saxophone, trumpet and clarinet) . . . He could play any brass or reed in the rack, for that matter . . . But the famous leading man's chief stock-in-trade for a personal appearance is his engaging personality and "talk" . . . His talking routine is good and up-to-the-minute . . . One of his gags pokes fun at his fat friend, Edward Arnold . . . "A Hollywood guide," says Dick, "charges 25 cents for a trip around the studios and 50 cents around Edward Arnold" . . . The Powell plans? . . . Paramount wants him for a new musical, and with his friend, B. G. (Buddy) De Sylva holding the reins, Dick thinks he'll sign . . . If the terms are satisfactory, of course.

FOR JAZZ THAT IS JAZZ, this column approves heartily of the version sounding forth from the records of one Fred "Snickelfritz" Fisher . . . "Snickelfritz" is working in a minor spot in Miami Beach at this writing, but a Boston nightclub with sufficient faith in the "Snickelfritz" talent to back him up with a campaign of exploitation might find him (and itself) a quick vogue . . . "Snickelfritz" records are selling, and if he gets an airshot, watch M. Fisher and his boys climb to national attention . . . Meantime, much closer to home, a smooth, sweet musical unit is winning its measure of faithful friends without too much attention being given it outside its own circle of friends . . . Charlie Wolk, we are talking about . . . Bossing a compact, seven-piece band, Charles is working at the Rumba Casino.

UNCONFIRMED AS YET (but vouched for by an authoritative source) is a story that Lee Whitney, boss of the Kenmore, has taken over a famous Maine resort hotel whose name has been carried on the label of a famous mineral water . . . That was quite a song—that beloved old-timer, "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet" . . . See if you have much trouble tracing certain of its phrases (and one important word in its lyric) to "The White Cliffs of Dover" . . . You'll have no difficulty at all in seeing the remarkable resemblance of "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet" and Irving Berlin's great hit, "Easter Parade" . . . (This does not mean we are charging Irving with plagiarism . . . As so often happens, the music which ran through Berlin's inspirational head just happened to be similar to the strains of the earlier song. The greatest composer of popular songs in America doesn't need to "lift" melodies or words.)

FRITZI SCHEFF
Makes Her Debut at Rio Casino

FRITZI SCHEFF'S DEBUT at the Rio Casino coincided nicely with the presence in town of many of the veteran star's good friends, including Victor Moore, Billy Gaxton, Irene Bordoni and Eddie Dowling . . . And with Belle Baker making her debut at the Mayfair tomorrow night, what an orgy of nostalgia could be indulged in that select company of veterans could be enticed into the same room for an evening of reminiscences! . . . Tonight's Celebrity Night at the Mayfair is expected to attract many of the "names" in town . . . We pass along John Hoysradt's crack about an unhandsome playboy who attracts beautiful girls: "He's got what they take!" And Phil Baker's: "Let's call it the Azhissi!"

NORMA REMAINS FOR NEW PICTURE

By Louella O. Parsons

Norma Shearer

HOLLYWOOD, March 3 Don't breathe a word—it's a big secret, but Norma Shearer is remaining on the M-G-M lot for another picture. She will be teamed with Lana Turner, M-G-M's glamor girl de luxe (who is being advised a second time not to be too widely publicized in cafes), in "I, Philip, Take Thee Linda." I also hear from a reliable source that Victor Mature is being sought for the same picture on a loan, of course, from 20th Century-Fox.

I imagine Norma and Lana have equally important roles. At any rate, they will be an interesting combination. Norma remaining at M-G-M for another picture kills the rumor she will move on the Warner lot for her next movie. She apparently feels she belongs at M-G-M.

LANA TURNER

WE HOPE if Ernst Lubitsch films "Typhoon," a play kidding the Japanese he will do it with a dagger in his hand. The way most of us in California feel the Japanese espionage is no laughing matter. Yet Ernst's pictures, the so-called "Comedians" and the other the Nazis, furnished such excellent comedy that it is not surprising he had been chuckling with Melcher Longley for the screen rights to "Typhoon." A play written 15 years ago but still up to date.

It played both in New York and Europe and the subject was Japanese espionage, but treated from a comedy angle.

WITH THE GREAT DEMAND for zany comedians I cannot understand why the Marx clan has dissolved as a comedy corporation. But the boys have split and that's definite. However, today I heard Groucho was planning to carry on alone in a Broadway show this Fall. "Anybody who thinks I'm retiring to my own home," said Groucho with his usual elegance. "Working is hard work being funny is like walking clouds. But I am through with the Groucho Marx public. Has come to know. I want to do straight comedy roles." In the meantime, Chico is heading a musical unit, with Harpo appearing in dramatic plays.

THERE'S NO CATERING to glamorous movie stars on the jam-packed Canadian trains. But Oliver Carson doesn't care—for on the flyer from Toronto to Ottawa she sat on the floor of a Pullman with a 1938 a d-distinguished fellow traveler than Phil Ruffalo, author of "This Above All."

He told her he was very anxious to see "This Above All" in its movie version and he thought Jean Fontaine and Ty Power were perfect for the lovers. And then, very gallantly, he told Greer he was just as anxious to see her "Mrs. Miniver."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The George Raft divorce is hot again and, of course, if George gets his legal papers he will wed Betty Grable. He has been separated from his wife for over 15 years; Marjorie Plant, widow of Phil Plant, and Dick Fagan an interesting dinner companion; Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brown working at the small town where they were married a few months ago; Carole Landis escorted to Ciro's opening by Rouben Mamoulian; Philip Holmes is in town after an absence of several years; Gene Raymond is expected to be called to service any day. Frances Drake, who said adieu to movies when she married Cecil Howard, is on the Metro lot in "Once Upon a Thursday"; Veda Ann Borg's husband, Paul Herick, has joined the Army Air Corps; Producer Robert Lord of Warners is standing by for his call to the Army.

'LOUISIANA PURCHASE' IS BOSTON'S BIG MUSICAL BUY OF STAGE SEASON

Old Favorites Score Anew

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Louisiana Purchase" Buddy De Sylva's smashing Broadway musical of a couple of years ago, finally got around to the Hub's Shubert Theater last night, and the verdict is... we're already rarin' to see it again.

It was worth waiting for. It is funnier than a Rube Goldberg contraption and worlds prettier, and its trio of stars, Gaxton, Zorina and Moore, make up the most engaging triangle of the theater season.

They, with the naughty, fascinating Irene Bordoni, head the original cast that made "Louisiana Purchase" a Broadway institution for more than a year and shattered a 10-year boxoffice record for a musical during the recent four-month Chicago run.

And because it has everything and because Boston has long been celebrated for its appreciative awareness of regional musicals, it will be surprising if this lusty, lilt-linging harlequinade concerned with the put-and-take propensities of some Louisiana politicians doesn't round out its tour here in a blaze of glory.

Social significance? You'll not find a trace of it in this exuberant musical masterpiece with its captivating Irving Berlin score, a bouncing, fruity book by Morrie Ryskind based on a story by Producer De Sylva. Incredibly pretty girls who can also dance (mimic cook), come marvelous dancing... and, of course, the inspired teaming of Bill Gaxton, Vera Zorina, Victor Moore and Irene Bordoni.

As the chorus lovelies melodiously inform, it is all strictly mythical and has nothing to do with the historic purchase. This latter-day steal that has brought the lovable, gentle but lynx-eyed Senator "Ollie" Loganberry to New Orleans has to do with $25,000 worth of lumber which has been sold three times to the state university after having been swiped originally from the WPA.

Gaxton is the Southern slicker Jim Taylor, who is the scapegoat of the political coterie and Moore, the incorruptible senator who discovers that "Mississippi water" and Zorina can be a very heavy combination for a trusting bumpkin of his years.

These two are, as ever... remember their vice-president and John P. Wintergreen of "Of Thee I Sing" and their Ambassador "Stinkie" Goodhue and Newspaperman Buck Thomas of "Leave It To Me"... are an incomparable pair.

HOLLYWOOD'S GAIN... is the return of Katharine Hepburn to star with Spencer Tracy in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Woman of the Year," which comes to Loew's State and Orpheum screens Thursday. It is Miss Hepburn's first film since she scored in "The Philadelphia Story."

A couple of weeks back, your two-lining reviewer went overboard on the merits of the De Sylva-supervised film version of his Broadway musical with Bob Hope in the Gaxton role. But the vitaphone will never replace the horse any more than a celluloid transcription, even in rousing technicolor, can outshine such a gleaming, riotous, virile production as is this flesh-and-blood musical.

After two years' playing it, Gaxton amazes with the freshness and vitality he infuses into the role of Jim Taylor, the perfect foil for Moore's hesitant humpty-dumpty senator.

Zorina, looking even more enchanting than usual, doubles in a dance specialty as an ethereal Mardi Gras Queen and a flaming queen of the Creoles, assisted by Charles Leskey, premier danseur.

Nick Long, Jr., and Althea Elder do some skilled stepping; the sepien Bobby Johnson contributes a bit of mellow jivin' and the Bucaneers and Karen Cooper sing pleasantly.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—That certain fragile something, so supremely feminine, that is a great part of Marlene Dietrich's beauty . . . is duplicated, Arline Gould feels, in the feeling of an extraordinary new evening make-up she describes . . . that gives your complexion a pearly luminosity at night.

NEW 'BLITHE SPIRIT' MAKEUP FOUNDATION

By ARLINE GOULD

SO BLITHE was the "blithe spirit" of the recent play that at times no one was quite sure whether she was intruder or heroine . . . but there was no doubting her elusive enchantment, the sheerness and luminosity of her flowing frocks and her make-up. Apparently the idea of such fragile loveliness appealed to a famous cosmetic creator, for she's just brought out an entrancing and magical new evening make-up named after the gay ghost.

There's a brand new and radical idea in the "blithe spirit" make-up foundation . . . and it starts off being different in its tint. For it is mysterious grey in the jar! But on the skin it changes to a transparent glow . . . it gives a look of "pearl-escence" that's beautiful without being too, too startling.

This amazing stuff makes your complexion look as though it were of delicate porcelain, so fine, so fair and firm . . . and it has the oddest, most intriguing way of bringing the contours of your face into relief against murky lights and backgrounds.

They say it's wonderful with grey chiffon, and certainly a must with silver fox furs. The make-up foundation is in cream form, light as a whisper, and spreadable as mist, but completely opaque and disguising.

When you've smoothed it on, all small lines, freckles and other blemishes disappear as though a silken curtain had been dropped over them. And the name "all day foundation" is certainly significant . . . for your complexion will remain perfectly made up until you remove the pretty patina!

Anything as ravishing as "blithe spirit" deserves being played to the hilt . . . so follow through with the delicate pink rouge made to go with it . . . an ivory toned powder, and bluish lavender eye shadow.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

THE PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH women were among the best homemakers who came to settle this country. They had neat, colorful homes where ample and varied meals were spread, for they were blessed with a great deal of originality. They are the ones to whom we give credit for the all-American favorite, apple pie. And it was they who developed the spicy apple butter that remains popular to this day.

Apple butter was made in large quantities in huge iron kettles over open fires out of doors. Thus, it lends itself to being made in large quantities in the kitchens of food manufacturers; and much of the apple butter served on our tables today is purchased in grocery stores.

The ingenuity of the modern homemaker shows itself in the way she uses this delicious spicy preserve for desserts as well as for a spread. Surprisingly enough, apple butter has infinite possibilities when it comes to giving that sugar and spice to the climax of a meal.

The recipes below are fine examples of what you can do with apple butter:

Apple Butter Whip with Custard

4 egg whites
Pinch of salt
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup sugar
1½ cups apple butter

Beat the egg whites with an egg beater until foamy, then add a pinch of salt and the cream of tartar. Beat until eggs are stiff enough to form a peak. Fold in the vanilla, sugar, and apple butter. Turn into a buttered loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (325 deg. F.) 40 minutes. Cool, then arrange in sherbet glasses in alternate layers with chilled custard. Makes 4 servings.

Custard

2 cups milk
2 tbsp. flour
1-3 cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
4 egg yolks
1 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. vanilla

Heat the milk to scalding (not boiling) point. Sift together the flour, sugar, and salt. Add this mixture to the milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Beat the egg yolks. Add several tablespoons of the thickened mixture to the egg yolks, stirring well, then pour back into custard and cook several minutes. Remove from heat and add the butter and vanilla. Chill. Serv with apple whip.

Graham Cracker and Apple Butter Slices

1 cup apple butter
1 cup chopped salted pecans
Mix apple butter and pecans. Spread on 6 graham crackers, then top each with another, spreading filling on these. Top each with a third graham cracker and press lightly. Then chill in refrigerator 4 or 5 hours. When chilled, turn each sandwich up on its side and cut through the edges with a sharp knife, dividing into three equal portions. Serve these strips, cut edges up, on a dessert plate laid out in the form of a triangle. Have sweetened and flavored whipped cream in the center. Top each with a pecan half. Makes 6 servings.

Apple Butter Ginger Snap Sandwiches

1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
1-3 cup apple butter
18 ginger snaps
18 more ginger snaps

Combine the cream cheese and apple butter, blending well. Spread on 18 ginger snaps. Put these together, sandwich style, with 18 more ginger snaps. Serve as accompaniment for canned fruit desserts.

The following apple butter filling is delicious served with gingerbread. Cut the gingerbread in 2-inch squares and spread each with a generous layer of the filling.

Apple Butter Filling

½ pint whipping cream
½ cup apple butter
½ cup chopped nuts

Whip cream, then fold in apple butter and nuts. Spread gingerbread squares with filling. For each serving place one square on top of another and garnish with a whole nut.

WOMEN AT WORK were photographed all over the place by Harper's Bazaar for their February issue. Wherever they went, the outstanding creed of the busy girl was to buy clothes that are easy to handle, long to last. And this flannel suit in white and dark blue check, an American classic, was among them. It's specifically a favorite of this department because it's the most completely unprovincial style a girl could wear . . . it might turn up in Lisbon, Montreal or Mexico City, and look equally smart and appropriate wherever. KNITTED SHORTS LATEST; COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

KNITTED shorts are something new in active play styles, and the folks who design such things are very pleased with themselves about this. They claim that the profile silhouette in knitted shorts is going to be a lot pleasanter to look at, and also that such shorts are very comfortable to get around in.

The kind of shorts they shout about are sketched. They come from Florence Gainer and are knitted of black yarn with a cable stitch.

Miss Gainer pairs these knitted shorts with a blousy red and white striped cotton shirt-waist which makes about as decorative a sports shirt as you'd find anywhere. The shirt tucks in under a wide knitted and neatly fitted band that tops the shorts.

A combination plastron and shoulder yoke has the stripes worked in herringbone pattern, while they run vertical in the body and horizontal in the sleeves.

I GET THE VITAMIN PART... BUT WHAT'S THIS B COMPLEX?

COME, COME! DON'T YOU KNOW IT'S THE ONE BIG GROUP OF VITAMINS SCIENTISTS ARE TALKING MOST ABOUT? LACK OF IT KEEPS MILLIONS OF PEOPLE BELOW PAR. AND NATURAL SOURCES, LIKE YEAST, ARE THE ONLY SOURCES

ARE YOU SAYING THAT YEAST, FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST, HAS THIS VALUABLE B COMPLEX?

CERTAINLY! AND IN ADDITION, FLEISCHMANN'S HAS OTHER VITAMINS NOT FOUND IN ANY OTHER YEAST. THAT'S WHY I THINK IT'S THE BEST YEAST TO BUY. CHEAP, TOO. ONLY COSTS A FEW CENTS. MIGHT DO YOU A LOT OF GOOD, SUGAR!

WHAT'S MORE, FLEISCHMANN'S TASTES SWELL THE NEW WAY... IN TOMATO JUICE. JUST MASH A CAKE IN A DRY GLASS WITH A FORK, ADD A LITTLE TOMATO JUICE, STIR TILL BLENDED. FILL UP THE GLASS, AND DRINK IT... TWICE A DAY, AND KEEP IT UP!

If you bake at home, remember that Fleischmann's has more vitamins than any other yeast.

About Baseball as an Aid to War

WE ARE READING HOW THE NATURAL BASEBALL aptitude of General MacArthur's U. S. soldiers is picking off the Japanese in wholesale lots with hand grenades. The boys are taking a full wind up and pitching pineapples for strikes. So one correspondent states.

It may be so! Still any alumnus of the A. E. F. will testify that there is as much similarity between throwing baseballs and hand grenades as there is between picking gooseberries and ice hockey. It's as simple to heave a grenade with a pitcher's delivery or a catcher's snap as it is to throw a watermelon down to second base and catch the Yankees' Joe DiMaggio.

I recall with what wriggles of delight the Allied high command welcomed the first boatload of the A. E. F. in that old, warm-up war. According to U. S. propaganda the war would soon be over because every American soldier could toss a 16-ounce Mills bomb with the same accuracy that Bob Feller could smoke a fast pitch over an Inland center. Vive les Yankees! They'd soon be throwing strikes with the little steel-ribbed pineapples.

The American command, however, soon realized that if U. S. soldiers were allowed to use their baseball technique they might yank the little counterpin, "shake off" the catcher a few times and take their full windup—by which time their troubles would be over. There was also the risk that an American baseballer might suddenly pivot and try to pick a man off second base, an especially potent worry because, at that time, if they threw far enough into their own lines they might pick off a general.

Our Style Was Pitch-and-Duck

NOR DID THE AMERICANS OF OUR TIME ever really master the art of duck-winging a grenade with the stiff-arm, cricket-bowler's style affected by the British. Our type of delivery consisted of a sneak-throw of the pitch-and-duck sort. We, somehow, never mastered the suspicion that the five seconds allotted between the pin-pulling and the time it took for the fulminate of mercury to leak down and detonate the contents might only be three seconds, or two, or one. Get rid of it!

There was one exception to this general rule—a tough little tyke by the name of "Gadget" McLeod who liked to pull the pins of five or six bombs at the same time and hold the piston-spoons clamped down under one armpit like a load of snowballs. At such times the vicinity of "Gadget" was considered very unpopular by his teammates until he had heaved them one at a time over the parapet. The curious fact is that he never blew himself up.

I have grave doubts that facility in sport, per se, is any vast advantage in the battlefield. Not that I mean to argue that a finely trained, lithe, lean ex-athlete won't outwear a soldier trained on high-balls and hula. A finely co-ordinated physical specimen from Boston College or Harvard would unquestionably outstay his undernourished buddy from the Southern share-cropping region. But I question whether he would have more heart or intestinal fortitude for a fight. For the man whom General Pershing named the best soldier in the A. E. F. was no athlete at all. He was a hominy-hoing, hallelujah shouter from the moonshine regions of Tennessee named Alvin York and he made the largest single-handed haul of enemy troops in the entire war.

Not because he was a four-letter man in the local high school, but because he had the individual gumption and devil-may-care brass to size up a situation and pretend that he had a regiment hidden in the grass.

The Ski Is the Utilitarian Implement

AN AUTOMATIC RIFLE IS A GREAT equalizer and it's the guy with the steadiest trigger finger who wins at war and not the gent with the widest shoulders. We had a mouse-like little mug named "Gook" Riley in our outfit, a kid with a watery eye, a flat crest and the habitual expression of smelling something bad. But he could keep a tin can in the air with his 37-mm gun and pot a swallow on the wing with a Hotchkiss. Guns were his gift. And we had a magnificent brute, an ex-boxer named Steve Mutrie, who was a ripple of muscle and motion. But it didn't help him because he was drilled through the head by a Heime anti-tank bullet which went through the armor plate like the sides of a tobacco tin.

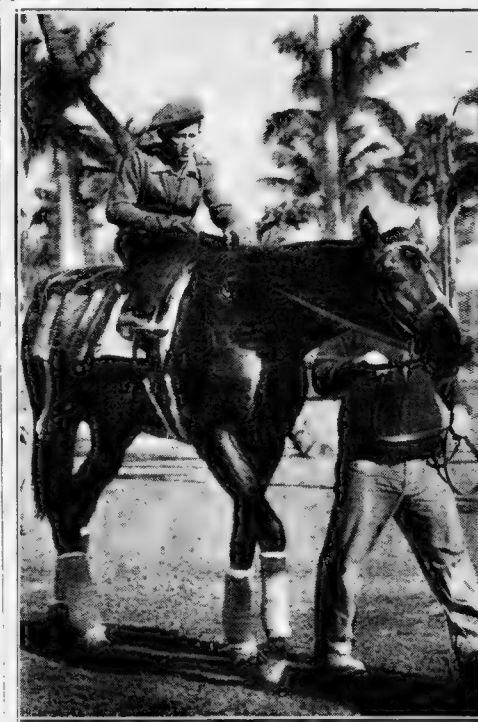

I argue that sport, as a body builder and physique developer is a useful adjunct in the business of war. But that sport, per se, has been of no practical service in the technique of battle. Lord Wellington credited the British victory of Waterloo to lessons learned on the playing fields of Eton, but in the light of latter day logic that doesn't work out, because 99 and 44-100ths per cent of the English army has always come from London's Soho, the Scottish fens, the Irish glens and the colonial crannies. Eton was a mere goose-pimple on England's military epidermis.

Some time ago, when Finland was fighting on the side of democracy instead, by a queer quirk of fortune, against it, magazine writers were telling how they owed their rugged resistance to Russia's massed mayhem to their athletic knack, their marathon hardihood and their agility on skis. Yet skiing was never recognized as a sport in Finland. It is a necessity. For the ski is as utilitarian a part of a Scandinavian's equipment as oil-skins and rubber boots are to a Gloucester fisherman. The Norseman skis because winter begins in mid-October and lasts till late May. The ski is his only means of locomotion over the celestial dundruff that falls three feet deep. The ski is as much a part of his feet as his toenails.

Thus once in uniform all men of standard shape and girth are physical equals. The athlete seldom finds any use for his specialized craft. Fighting hearts sometimes come in unlikely packages and many a runty type has outsmarted and outmanned magnificent specimens of manhood.

U.S. Aid Backs Williams; Home Draft Board Says Ted Asked Shift to 3-A

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 3 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox batting star, himself requested the appeal to the President of his draft classification from 1A to 3A, an appeal which was approved last week, Col. J. E. Nelson, Minnesota selective service director, said today.

Col. Nelson's statement contradicted reports that Williams did not request the appeal, but merely accepted his changed status. He revealed the appeal was made at Williams' behest "just to set the records straight."

Williams was classified 1A when his case first came before his Minneapolis draft board. At Williams' request, the 1A classification was appealed to the local appeal board, which after consideration of the circumstances, voted unanimously, 5 to 0, to continue his 1A classification.

MOTHER DEPENDENT

After the appeal board turned down the request, Williams' attorney conferred with Col. Nelson who told him that the matter would not be sent to the President unless Williams himself asked it.

Subsequently Williams' attorney contacted the baseball player and then notified the government appeal agent that Williams would like to have his status changed.

Williams' status was changed on grounds that his mother was dependent upon him for support.

Col. Nelson's statement followed closely publication of comment by Herbert W. Estern, government agent on Minneapolis Draft Board No. 6, that Williams had not appealed his case and that Estern, one of sympathy for Williams, had investigated the case of his own initiative.

Estern said he learned Williams had no more money than the average 23-year-old earning $35 a week. He added that Williams' mother, former Salvation Army worker, had recently undergone an operation and that she would have suffered undue hardship if the young player been drafted.

DEFERMENT DESERVED

Estern was quoted as saying: "My job is to see that both the government and registrant get a fair deal. I think Williams' deferment was deserved, and I know the draft board would certainly have deferred him had he not been a high-salaried player."

Meanwhile, Williams departed secretly for the Red Sox training camp at Sarasota, Fla. A check at his hotel here and at his Princeton, Minn., haunts indicated he left by automobile late yesterday.

B'S CHANGE DEFENSE FOR MAPLE LEAF TEST

Mathematically, the Bruins can still overtake the Toronto Maple Leafs and move into second place; practically, the Rossmin haven't a chance and will have all they can do to hold third place away from the Blackhawks.

Today, the Bruins are five points behind the second place Leafs with whom they clash here at the Garden tonight. Ordinarily, the fans could get all steamed up over the possibilities of a victory which would move our heroes within three points of the potent Leafs. Actually, no expert would even concede second place to the Bruins if they happened to be five points up, for the present machine is so badly patched and riddled that only the lateness of the season prevents them from tangling with the Americans and Canadians for the cellar.

Only two things have kept the Bruins from being routed in every game they have played in the last two weeks.

The first is Frankie Brimsek and the second is courage. Brimsek was never-given his just

Rookie Karl Rates Real Test With Sox

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 3—Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox, who has had all his workouts on the telephone for the last three days, pushed aside the tormenting Williams deferment case today for a session on the practice field.

"After all, I have 25 other players to think of and I've got to get a little conditioning in myself," Cronin told reporters.

TED ARRIVES THURSDAY

The Red Sox manager admitted he has been almost constantly in touch with Owner Tom Yawkey in New York during the last few days and even agreed that he had sought unsuccessfully to reach Ted "The Kid" Williams, en route here from Minneapolis.

"I have heard from Tom Yawkey that some of the Boston papers have been pretty unkind in their comments on the Williams' deferment," Joe added. "However, I've stopped thinking about it altogether and we get down to business here today. There isn't anything more to say until Ted gets here Thursday. I expect him here by then."

Pitcher Anton Karl could be termed a "Business Office Must" and has about as much chance of sticking as had Alex Mustakias, a "Landis Must," last year. Yet it will be wise for the Sox to give him more than the quick brushoff because the blond youngster is a better pitcher than his poor record indicates. He won only 16 while losing 10 last year at Scranton of the Eastern League, yet 6 of those 10 defeats were by one run.

It reminds one of the comment Dick Newsome made last year "I did my best pitching the year I won 6 and lost 17 for Sacramento (1937). That club never would get a pitcher a run."

Paul Derringer, perhaps the smartest pitcher in the business, lost 27 games for the Cards and Reds in 1933, though his earned run average was 3.30. Yet in 1935 with Cincinnati he won 22 and lost 13 when his earned run average was 3.51. One must go farther than averages to find a ball player. For example, how many scouts would have picked up Rogers Hornsby when he was hitting only .240 in the Texas League?

Karl's home is in Mt. Vernon, N. Y. He pitched and played basketball for Manhattan College. Jack Egan, who picked up Mickey Harris, also signed Karl way back in '36, when he was playing semi-pro ball. Thus the blond right-hander has been in the Sox chain five years, spending most of the last three of them with Scranton. He specializes in a knuckle ball. This is his first trip south with the Sox. He's 26 and a nice tall chap, standing, six one and one-half inches and weighing a wiry 175.

Joe Dobson won his last seven games for the Sox last year, and is a headliner for a starting berth this spring. "I used to throw everything with the same speed," said curly-locks Joe in accounting for his sudden rise to fame, "but last year I learned to throw with different speeds, and also acquired better control."

One can keep a hitter continually off balance by "changing up." It was the secret of Herb Pennock's success when his fast one was gone.

PAIR CHAMPS IN ARENA FETE

The Commonwealth Figure Skating Club, whose first Ice Revue goes on at the Arena Friday night, will bring to Boston the country's outstanding pairs skaters.

The new titleholders, Walter Noffke and Doris Schobach, both of Holyoke, are credited with being the cleverest figure skating pair to hold the championship in years. They first came into prominence in 1941, when they captured the Eastern States junior title and then went on to win the national junior crowns.

This year they were selected as the best junior dance pair in the Easterns, and about a week ago went west to Chicago to win the national senior pairs championship. The will have a prominent part in the Commonwealth carnival program.

Also contributing to making the carnival an outstanding event, Robert Jenks of the Skating Club will be featured in a solo number. Miss Jenks is one of the ablest of the New England crop of amateur skating stars.

Other prominent New England blade stars to appear are the Farrell sisters, Betty and Patsy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Farrell, of Providence; Wilhelm Junker, who recently won the Eastern States junior singles championship; and Doris Marie Tufts, of Wellesley, who gained second place in the Eastern States.

Lamanna, Javery Miss Braves' Train

By BILL GRIMES

SANFORD, Fla., March 3—After a long but enjoyable trip, the Boston contingent of the Braves pulled in here this morning and found the California and Mid-West delegations waiting at the station.

The Braves are not off to an auspicious start, due to the fact that Al Javery, lanky right hand hurler from Worcester County, and Frank Lamanna, who is a "ringer" for Joe DiMaggio, missed connections.

Javery, who wintered at Auburn, hit an all time high for missing trains, when he failed to put in an appearance. Two years ago, "Jav" was caught in a blizzard and along with his side kick Joe Callahan reached the South Station about ten minutes after the train had started for Bradenton, Fla.

Through some miracle, Javery made the "boat" with the first crowd that headed for San Antonio. Lamanna, who was routed from Pittsburgh to Washington where he was to have joined the Boston party, wasn't at the Union Station and like Javery hadn't wired any explanation for what happened to him.

Just as soon as they climbed out of their sleepers here this morning, the Boston crowd found George "High Pockets" Kelly at the station along with Elmie Lombardi, Al Montgomery, Lou Tost and Manny Salvo.

MYERS VOWS HE'S THROUGH

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 3 (AP)—Billy Meyers of the Chicago Cubs insisted today he isn't a hold-out—he just doesn't want to play baseball any more, vowing "I've had enough."

Refusing to take a cut from the $12,000 he earned last year, the 31-year-old shutout now is working as an extra fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, bringing home from $6.88 to $3.34 a day—when he works.

"I'm satisfied right where I am," he declares. "I'm not going to bother about the contract they sent me. I don't expect to play anymore. I haven't been at home during one summer since 1928 and I'm going to spend this one right here."

Meyers disclosed the Cubs wanted to slash his pay "a good bit," adding "I'd take less money, if I signed than when I broke into the majors." So far as he's concerned "they can do anything they want with me—sell me, trade me or release me—but I'm quitting for good."

Billy got into organized baseball 14 years ago with the Waynesboro (Pa.) club of the Blue Ridge League, serving with six other minor outfits before going to the Cincinnati Reds in 1934.

Ellis' Dean Five Seeks 19th Win

The Dean Academy and Junior College basketball team, under Coach Fred "Fish" Ellis, former Tufts athlete, will be seeking its 19th consecutive win of the season tonight when they entertain New Bedford Textile at the Dean gym, Franklin.

Dean has rung up 18 wins without a defeat this year and, has but two games to play following the New Bedford tilt. Providence College Freshmen visits Franklin Saturday and the last contest is with Harvard Freshmen, March 11 at Cambridge.

HIT HARD BY INJURIES

Dean's record is all the more remarkable when it is pointed out that more than 22 boys at one time or another during the season, have played. A large number joined the Army and Coach Ellis was forced to make changes in his lineup.

Also, he was confronted with the injury jinx which forced Vin Igo of Foxboro, Bill Whalen of Millis and Jack Toomey out of action since the Christmas holidays.

Despite the loss of these boys, Dean has an enviable record. One of the best ever made by a Dean basketball team.

Pacing the attack are Ace Smith of Braintree and Woody Grimeshaw of Matheune. Between them they have scored 600 points.

Smith stands 6 feet 3 inches and scored 273 points while playing 16 games. His high for a single game which is incidentally the highest for the year, is 40 points, a modern Dean record for individual scoring. He hung up these points against Monson, the final score being 101-47.

A number of other Greater Boston boys have either played for Dean or are still performing there during the past season, George Boston from Swampscott holds down the center berth; Joe Favazza and Benny Chansola of Gloucester, are alternates as are Charles Ellis, Watertown, Ham Toll, Beverly, James McEvoy, Natick and Buddy Curtis, Dorchester.

Bob Frascotte, Milford, Bob Foote, North Adams and Chet Bodinski, North Attleboro, have joined the armed forces.

B. C. Six Preps For Nationals

The Boston College varsity six, winner of the New England Intercollegiate championship for the third straight season and owner of an impressive overall record of nine wins in 11 starts, will have one more practice session before it begins competition in the annual national A. A. U. tournament which will be held at the Arena Saturday and Sunday.

The John "Snooks" Kelley coached champions worked out for an hour yesterday afternoon at the Garden and will rest until Friday afternoon when they'll hold their final session at the Arena.

"I find that the lads play their best game when they have practiced the day before the contest," stated Coach Kelley in explaining the gap between practice sessions.

A quintet of freshman players—Ed Burns (Arlington), John "Jack" Conniff (Wellesley), Tom Dolan (Springfield), Jack Harvey (Arlington) and Bob Mason (Wollaston) and B. C. High—practiced with the varsity squad yesterday. The freshmen may play with the varsity squad in the forthcoming tournament.

LOWELL BOXERS Win Diamond Belt Titles

Joey Hebert, scrappy Lowell 112-pounder gained revenge last night when he outpointed Tony Peppi of the North End, Grand National All-America champion, in the class final of the Diamond Ring tournament of the Irish-American A. A. before a gathering of 4000 at the Arena.

Hebert, who lost a questionable decision to Peppi in the All-America finals a few weeks ago, which gave Peppi the title, staged a whirlwind finish to outpoint the Hub fighter in one of the best scraps on the card.

Hebert's punching to the head and body in the final frame earned him the award after he held his own with the champion in the earlier rounds.

Hebert gained the final taking a decision over Clem Crowley of Dorchester, while Peppi drew a bye.

Another Lowell boy, Jim Mulligan, 160-pound Grand All-America champion, scored two kayoes to win his class. He disposed of Ed Johnson of the U. S. Coast Guard in one round of the semi-final and polished off Al Otero of Boston in two rounds in the final.

COULD ONLY HAPPEN TO PHILS.—The Phillies boast three pitchers who wear glasses. Some teams do not have even one of their moundmen wearing them and hence it is quite unusual that the Phillies should have three. L. to r., Sam Nahem, Walter Beck and John Podgajny at their southern training camp where they are getting in fine shape for the coming season.

A's Lose Rookie for Season

(AP) ANAHEIM, Cal.—The broken leg rookie outfielder George Donaldson of the Philadelphia Athletics suffered Sunday probably will keep him out of the lineup all season and may end his baseball career.

"There is some question whether he will ever play again," said Manager Connie Mack. Donaldson's leg was broken in two places when he attempted to slide.

TAMPA, Fla.—Veteran Ival Goodman—with young Eddie Lukon as a rival for the rightfield job—is showing his old-time form in the Cincinnati batting drill. Goodman reported last spring with a sore shoulder but is in good condition now.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit Tiger, who once went back to the minors to cure a sore arm, is having his upper teeth extracted in the hope of getting rid of some aches and pains.

MIAMI, Fla.—Skinny Tommy Hughes, righthander who won nine games for the Phillies in 1941, gained 10 pounds during the winter and expects his added weight to increase the speed of his fast ball.

HAVANA.—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers said today that Arky Vaughan, whom the club obtained from Pittsburgh to play third base, would hit in the No. 2 slot and that Billy Herman, former holder of that position, would be dropped to seventh. Durocher indicated he would retain Cliff Dapper, up from the Pacific Coast League, as the second string receiver.

PASADENA, Cal.—Pitcher Thornton Lee of the Chicago Sox weighed 225 pounds when he arrived in camp and hopes to lose 10 of them—but no more—before the season starts. He formerly tried to reduce to 200 but last year stopped at 215 and won 22 games.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Two rookie infielders from the American Ass'n, Stan Galle at third and Bob Repass at second, had their first trials with the Washington Senators and appear virtually unopposed. Galle came up from Milwaukee, Repass from Columbus.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Six of the New York Yankees key men are still holding out but action is expected shortly as the world champions meet the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition contest Friday. Yesterday, Manager Joe McCarthy used left-handed Tommy Henrich at second base.

AVALON, Cal.—Last summer the Chicago Cubs played an exhibition contest at South Bend, Ind., and Eddie Haneyzawski, young semipro, struck out 14 batters. Now he is in the Cub camp although owned by Tulsa of the Texas League.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Rookie

hurlers will get the nod in early spring games, Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cards indicated today as his club prepared for its coming clashes this week-end with the New York Yankees.

EL CENTRO, Cal.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the San Diego Club of the Pacific Coast League meet today, with receipts going to the fund to purchase recreational equipment for soldiers. The Pirate squad will be made up of pitchers primarily as the Pittsburgh second squad doesn't arrive until Thursday.

MIAMI, Fla.—The New York Giants will be reunited today. A part of the team flew home from Havana yesterday but adverse weather kept the other half in the Cuban city.

DELAND, Fla.—Almost as many St. Louis Brown pitchers and catchers were absent yesterday from the club's first workout as were present. Club officials indicated that most of those not present were holdouts. Missing were pitchers Eldon Auker, Bob Muncrief and Denny Galehouse, and catchers Rick Ferrell and Bob Swift.

77 NIGHT GAMES LISTED FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, March 3 (AP)—The American League made public its 1942 schedule, with 55 doubleheaders and 77 night games on the season's baseball menu.

Opening games will be played April 14. St. Louis will be at Chicago, Cleveland at Detroit, New York at Washington, and Philadelphia at Boston when the boys start playing for keeps.

The night game section of the schedule gave Washington 21 games at home, with eight others to be played under the lights in enemy parks. Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Philadelphia each had 14 night games at home and nine on the road.

There will be no night games played at home by New York, Detroit and Boston, but each will make 11 appearances under the lamps while on the road.

EXTRA HOLIDAY FOR SOX

In the important matter of holiday dates at home, all teams found pretty well except the Browns. They will have 11 Saturdays and 12 Sundays at home, plus their 14 after dark games, but nary a holiday this year.

The Red Sox picked up an extra holiday, since they were scheduled to be at home April 20, which the people of Massachusetts celebrate as Patriots Day.

The schedule for doubleheaders (which the weather man no doubt will fatten before the season ends) follows:

At Detroit, two; away, nine. At New York, two; away, five. At Philadelphia, 13; away, eight. At Chicago, nine; away, five. At St. Louis, eight; away, nine. At Boston, eight; away, six. At Washington, seven; away, eight. At Cleveland, six; away, five.

Cancel Train For H-Y Race

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 3

(AP)—Yale's Athletic Ass'n announced several changes in the spring sports schedule and disclosed that an observation train would not be available for the annual regatta with Harvard on the Housatonic river May 23. Athletic Director Ogden Miller, explaining that the shifts were necessitated by the accelerated academic program, said that because of rain conditions the New Haven railroad would not be able to spare a train for the crew classic.

Both Yale-Harvard baseball games will be played at Cambridge June 6. Switched to New Haven, too, was the track meet with Harvard, which will be held May 23—here instead of at Cambridge.

30 Americans Fastest In Learning to Ski

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

STOWE, Vt., March 3—"American people learn to ski quicker than any others in the world," declared Sepp Ruscip, who is directing his famous ski school here in Smugglers Notch for the sixth season.

"Skiing can be taught in two weeks, but it really takes years to learn the art and become properly conditioned. A complete mastery of the fundamentals is necessary for anyone who wishes to make marked progress in this sport," he added.

Visiting the snow cover for the first time, we had our initial meeting with themeister. Sepp came from Linz, located on the Blue Danube of upper Austria. He commenced to ski as soon as he could walk, and started racing at 15. A member of the four-man relay team which won the Austrian National Ski Relay in 1936, he also captured several state and combined championships.

WOULDN'T DISCOURAGE

This bronzed expert arrived in America in 1936 to coach the Norwich ski team, as well as the University of Vermont schussers. It was then that he established his ski school with the Mount Mansfield Ski Club, holding classes over the week-ends.

Many discouraged his starting to teach at Smugglers Notch, which at that time was practically an undeveloped wilderness.

"There is plenty of snow here, and it should be one of the best centers of the East," was Sepp's answer.

The real developing now began. The Toll House and The Lodge were built in the Notch, slopes cleared, and trails cut down the side of the mountain. News of this snow pocket soon spread, and skiers came here from all over the country to try the famous Nose Dive run on Mount Mansfield. They had to climb to the top, too.

HAS TAUGHT 10,000 IN 6 YEARS

Two years ago, leg-weary people and others formed the Mount Mansfield Lift Co., issued stock, and constructed the 6030 foot Chair Lift to the summit, longest conveyance of its kind in the world. The skiing snowball is now rolling.

In earnest, gathering dollars with each snowflake.

More than 10,000 people have been taught to ski by Sepp Ruscip in the past six years. So busy is he now that he employs seven assistant instructors, all affable and polite lads, thoroughly trained by Sepp. His first assistant is Otto Hollaus, formerly a professor of physical education in Austria. Tall, dark and handsome Kerr Sparks, who started a few years ago with Oscar Cyr in the Newfound region, is also on the staff. Then we meet Norman Richardson, 22-year-old racer from Newport, another one of Ruscip's proteges. Norman began to shine in competition three years ago in Sun Valley. He has run the Nose Dive Trail in the terrific time of two minutes and 28 seconds.

Other instructors in the school are Bob Borden, who replaces Everett Baily, now a second lieutenant in the Army; Lionel Hayes, Clem Curtis, and Howard Moody.

BRUINS CHANGE DEFENSE FOR LEAF'S GAME

they missed counting into double figures can be traced to Brimsek alone.

Today Frankie has an eight goal lead on Toronto's Turk Broda and if he can windup ahead in the seven games remaining, he must be given rank with the great goalers of all time.

And in order to give Brimsek whatever help possible, the Bruins board of strategy is going to shake-up its defense combinations tonight. "Bushier" Jackson will be moved off right wing and team with Des Smith. Jack Crawford will work with Johnny Shawchuk and Clare Martin will be held in reserve.

Martin is really a hard working kid but under ordinary circumstances he would still be at least two years away. By moving "Bushier" back there, the Bruins will be operating with an inexperienced defenseman but Harvey has been around a long time and knows all the tricks in the game.

By keeping Jackson on defense, Lloyd Grosdail, another Olympics graduate gets his chance. Lloyd made his debut against the Wings and showed promise although he was visibly a bit too tense. He will work with Art Jackson and Herbie Cain, a pair of veterans who should help steady him.

Just what this revised club will do against the high flying Leafs is not known but if they should perform the impossible and even tie the invaders, the story will be the great work of Brimsek for it's a pretty good bet that he will have to come up with two saves to every one Broda makes tonight.

The Toronto Maple Leafs did the Bruins a huge favor by edging the Blackhawks Sunday night for it helped the Rossens no little in their fight to windup third in the N. H. L. final standings . . . as the situation now stands the Bruins have three points and two games in hand but even that isn't enough to insure their.

Manager Paul Thompson's outfit in their five remaining games have two tilts with the Americans and one with Boston, Detroit and the Rangers . . . the Bruins play four of their remaining seven games away at Montreal, Detroit, Toronto and with the Rangers in New York

Derringer Gets $1000 for Bump on Head

TAMPA, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Paul Derringer, veteran Cincinnati pitcher, was awarded $1000 by a circuit court jury for injuries he claimed he received when he bumped his head against a scaffold in an electrical supplies store here in 1940.

Derringer sued the firm for $65,000 but his attorneys explained that the suit was filed nearly a year ago and that they sought reimbursement only for a $5000 salary cut he said he was forced to take this year, plus about $1000 doctor's fees and "reasonable" compensation for the pain he suffered.
